Concerning Miss Johnson
The Pittsburgh Gazette of recent date contained a photograph of Miss Bessie Kathryn Johnson of Elkins, daughter of H. G. Johnson, editor of the Elkins Mountain and the following comment concerning a rehearsal of the play, "Ann Conventry," in which Miss Johnson stars at the Carnegie Institute of Technology: "Although only in her second year in the School of Drama of Carnegie Institute of Technology, Miss Bessie Kathryn Johnson of Elkins, W. Va., has been cast in the leading role of Reta Conventry, a play to be presented in the Elkins School Theater next week."

"The play was written by Herbert Osburn, director of dramatic work in the institute, and is taken from the novel of the same name by Julien Street. Miss Johnson takes the part of Reta Conventry, the protagonist in the play, who is represented as a temperamental opera singer with a series of idealistic love affairs. She will be assisted by John Wilard as 'Richard Parley'; Vernon Halden as 'Patrick Delaney'; and Ross Hurdie as 'Luigi Busini'. In all there are nineteen persons in the cast."

"Miss Johnson is the daughter of Herman G. Johnson of Elkins, a member of the West Virginia Senate, newspaper publisher of Elkins and one of the leading residents of Randolph County, interested in coal and lumber. Miss Johnson was graduated from the Elkins schools, and because of a strong desire for dramatic work she came to the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

"Her role in the present work requires some ability as a singer as well as an actress; and she has both, according to the impression she made at rehearsal yesterday."

Gives Fine Address
After hearing Edmund Vance Cooke talk on the subject, "Is Poetry Important," before the Woman's Club at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, the large and representative body of women present can bear testimony to the fact that poetry is important and also to the fact that the press notices sent to this city heralding Mr. Cooke as a poet, philosopher, humorist and impersonator are more than true.

With a pretty and serious vein of philosophy running riot through his poems, coupled with a gentle kind humor and his very clever portrayal of human nature by his splendid impersonations, he held the rapt attention of his audience for more than an hour and a half.

Mr. Cooke sees life in varied forms and has most beautifully portrayed life and conditions in his poems, many of which he gave in the course of his remarks yesterday. His humor was of the most pleasing kind and he kept his audience happy, quite often, however, dropping in a serious thought or poem which changed the current of thought.

His philosophy, which he depicted by means of his poems, dealt with human nature, nationalism and things religious, and his poems, grouped under one head of "Is Poetry Important," were as follows: "Impertinent Inquiries," "Little Toot Lyric," "The Family Group," "Fragments of Philosophy," "Rimes of Real Religion" and "The Larger Nationalism."

Mr. Cooke, according to press notices, was to have talked on the subject "An Old Friend Drops In," but following his introduction he gave this poem beautifully and then launched into his theme. Before he was into it he had convinced his hearers that poetry is important.

Mr. Cooke was recalled by a number of his hearers who heard him here years ago when the old skating rink was in use as an opera house, when he appeared in a comedy sketch as an awkward school girl.

Preceding his address several community songs were sung by the audience, led by Mrs. T. E. Johnson, and a group of songs from the Messiah was beautifully sung by Miss Pauline Reed, accompanied by Miss Hazel Bock.

Little business was considered at this meeting other than that a list of names was read of persons who became members of the club at the reading, and a list of other names was read for the first reading.

Mrs. O. G. Wilson made a plea for subscriptions to the federation organ, "The Club Women of West Virginia."

Mrs. Rosier announced that the annual contributions of the club to the Salvation Army and the Times Christmas fund had been made.

The attendance was unusually large, there being approximately five hundred women present, together with several men.

Following the address of Mr. Cooke, a number of the club members were received by him, with members of the board of management also receiving.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Ernest Bell, chairman, assisted by Mrs. William J. Weigel, Mrs. Henry Hunsaker and Miss Mary Louise Nichols.

The next meeting of the club will be held on New Year's Day and will be the annual New Year's reception.

New members taken into the club were Mrs. Cora Bishop, Miss Hallie Martin, Miss Mary Blanche Hunsaker, Miss Anna Martin, Miss Katherine Price, Mrs. Frank A. Lloyd, Mrs. S. H. Trelawney, Mrs. Herbert Elsie and Mrs. Paul F. Williamson.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Wallace Reid, film actor, is "fighting for his life" in a small Hollywood sanitarium according to a story the Los Angeles Times published today, quoting his wife, known professionally as Dorothy Davenport, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Davenport.

Reid suffered a break down nearly two months ago after his health had been failing for three years, they said, and for several weeks he has been under the care of two physicians and two male nurses.

They said they believed "the big struggle was over" and that plans for the immediate future included nothing more than to "nurse him back to his health and place in the motion picture world."
